PLEA FOR DONATIONS TO THE OUVROIR FUND

American Organization Designed to Provide Aid to Definitely Known War Victims.

The American Ouvreir Fund, 20 5th avenue, New York city, is sending appeals throughout the United States for contributions to assist in a personal way victims of the European war.

Each contribution asked for is a separate fund for a definite orphan, a definite mutilated or blind soldier, whose history and wants are known. Each contribution raised has, therefore, a definite object, known to the giver. The photograph and history of the individual helped are given to the person who supplies the fund, and the one helped corresponds directly with the giver of the fund.

Object of the Organization.

In a statement made public by the organization, it is announced that personal interest is exhibited in the following way:

"Soldiers who are going to the front for the first time or soldiers returning to the front come to the American Ouvreir and are given necessary garments and underclothing. The address of the family, if they have one, is recorded. If their family are in or near Paris they are visited or written to. If the wife needs work she is given clothing. The soldier returns to the front, he writes to the American Ouvreir and his letters are answered. If he is in need of clothing while at the front it is sent to him. If he is badly wounded and cannot return to the front he is taken care of, and where arms or legs have been amputated he is re-educated by the French Society for Mutilated Soldiers, which co-operates with the American Ouvreir. If the soldier is killed his family is taken care of."

Interest Not Merely Temporary.

"In this way it is seen that the interest is not merely a temporary interest for a year or two, but a permanent interest in individuals who have become proteges."

It is announced that checks for the fund may be sent to J. P. Morgan & Co., 60 Broadway, New York, who will send a receipt, and that the contribution will also bring to the donor a receipt from the French war relief society which sends to the monthly disbursement of each individual contribution, as well as letters direct from the one who is helped.

RATED UNEXPECTED ALLY TO HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Mexican Situation Induces Attention to Law Relating to Registration of Births.

The Mexican situation is proving an unexpected ally for the health department in its campaign for stricter compliance with the law requiring birth registrations. The birth records have been appealed to frequently within the last few days by anxious parents searching for proof that their sons are below military age and in some instances the registrations have been lacking.

"The calling of the militia to active service has in an unexpected way brought home to some anxious parents the importance of birth registration," said Dr. Woodward, health officer, today. "Under ordinary conditions the fact that a son was learning to shoot and being initiated into the mysteries of military life was a matter rather for pride than sorrow, even though the youthful soldier might be below military age. The call into active service has, however, aroused some parents to the stern realities of the case, and applications are being made for transcripts of records of the births of some of the youthful enlisted men for the purpose of procuring their discharge from military service."

"How the fact that such a soldier is below military age will be proven to the satisfaction of the authorities in those cases in which the births were never registered remains to be determined."

PLAN TO WITHHOLD AID UNTIL NEED IS PRESSING

Jewish Women at Present See No Necessity for Relief for Families of District Militiamen.

Steps toward relief for members of families of the District National Guard will not be taken by the Women of the Hour for the relief of Jewish war veterans until pressing needs arise, it was announced by Mrs. Louis Ottenberg, president of the organization, at a meeting held last night in the Eighth Street Temple. She added she did not believe events would come to such a pass that help from the organization would be needed.

It was reported that more than $250 has been turned over for the relief of Jewish sufferers in the zone of the European war, and that $100 additional soon would be dispatched. One of the most successful means of raising money has been by the distribution of several hundred dime savings banks. After the vacation season ends house-to-house canvassing will be begun. About fifty women were present at the meeting last night, representing the Sisterhood of the Eighth Street Temple, Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sixth Street Congregation, Council of Jewish Women and the Home for the Aged. Until further notice meetings will be held the last Wednesday of each month.

SHOULD TAG THE BABIES HAVING WHOOPING COUGH

Physicians Suggest Method Whereby Spread of the Ailment May Be Prevented.

Tag your baby if it has whooping cough; such a measure will go a long way toward retarding the spread of the disease. This is the advice of several local physicians.

A small sign with the words "Whooping cough" placed on the baby's carriage or attached to the child's dress would be a means of notifying other persons or children that they should not get too near the child affected, it is suggested.

The physicians advocating the tagging of the children do not urge quarantine, as they declare fresh air is best for the child when suffering from the disease. They say that the malady has spread considerably more this year than for many years and declare it is due to the fact that enough precaution is not taken.

What the Records Show.

Tuesday records at the health department show 478 cases of whooping cough had been reported to the department. Yesterday fourteen additional cases were reported.

The law provides, the health department states, that the parents or a physician must report to the department cases of whooping cough and that a child must not be allowed to go about on the street if it has the disease unless accompanied by an adult, eighteen years old or older. A penalty is provided by the law for failure to report the case to the department, it is stated.

MEDICAL INSPECTION REVISED.

Dr. Woodward Would Encourage System in Food Establishments.

With the object of encouraging the establishment of systems of medical inspection of employees in establishments engaged in the production, storage, handling, sale and delivery of foods, including dairy farms and dairies, Health Officer William C. Woodward is revising the series of score cards used for the inspection and control of such establishments.

Although such systems of medical inspection are not required by law, the effect of the proposed revision of the score cards will be to give credit to the records of the health department, which are open to the public, to every one who adopts this means for protecting foodstuffs sold by him from contamination by diseased employees. As rapidly as possible the score cards used in connection with dairies, restaurants, lunchrooms and other food-vending establishments will be revised along the same line.
